

Freddy The Tiger

Freddy is not your ordinary tiger. He is in fact very special and yet, he does not see it. This story traces his journey as Freddy tries to make a place for himself among the other animals of Ellian Island. What he discovers along the way is something that he actually knew but just needed the courage to see.

Kristen Jaccodine started writing stories when she was nine years old. She has notebooks, binders and journals full of ideas, rough drafts, and unfinished tales. Writing is something that she truly loves to do. Kristen graduated from Franklin Pierce College in 1993, majoring in psychology and minoring in creative writing. As a high school student, she wrote three one-act plays, Mystery Manor, Clayton and Sharlene, and Guilty As Charged. These plays were all selected to be produced by her high school theatre department at Wallkill Valley Regional High School. In March 2000, When Strangers Meet, (formerly called Guilty As Charged) was professionally read by the Tri-State Actor's Theatre. In 2012, Kristen self-published her first children's story entitled Magic Stones as a gift for her nephews. Her short story, Peter's Window, was published in the 2014 issue of the literary magazine Goldfinch. Kristen is a member of Women Who Write, a writer's organization in NJ. She resides in rural New Jersey and works as a full time School Counselor at High Point Regional High School. Her summers are spent in Maine and Vermont. She currently has more writing projects underway and hopes to share them in the future.
